POPULAR YOUNG MAN COMMITS SUICIDE.

Carbolic Acid Used With Deadly Effect by Forrest Bennett.

Forrest Bennett, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bennett, living in the Beda neighborhood was found unconscious at the stable early last Monday morning and died before he could receive medical attention. As the young man had been in the very best of health and had received no injuries his death was a mystery for some time. Later however, a bottle containing carbolic acid was found in a trunk in the room from which he had gone to the barn, presumably to feed the stock. It has also been learned that he purchased the carbolic acid from one of the drug stores in Hartford late Saturday evening. It develops that he left a letter intimating his intentions, but we are unable to learn whether or not he assigned any reason for his rash deed. He was about 21 years old and a young man of good character, industrious and kind to his parents and associates. His sudden and tragic death is greatly regretted by the entire community in which he lived and was a sad blow to his parents and family. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning in the C. P. Church at Beda conducted by Rev. T. C. Wilson, after which enternment took place in the cemetery near by.

Died of Consumption.

Mrs. Cleora Moxley died at her home near Fairview, three miles west of Olaton Saturday night at 1 o'clock, after a lingering illness of consumption. She was formerly Miss Maude Allen, being a daughter of Mr. Geo. W. Allen, who resides on Route No. 1. Mrs. Moxley was buried at Mt. Vernon, Monday, at 10 o'clock a. m. Her brother, Frank Allen, of Henderson, was at her bedside when she died. Miss Daisy Allen, of Massillon, Ohio, was not here, having returned home only a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Moxley leaves a husband, a brother and sister, besides the entire community to mourn her loss.

The Baird Suit.

In the suit of Dr. A. B. Baird against Ohio county pending in the Federal District Court for Western Kentucky, a ruling of Judge Evans on some points to strike out certain paragraphs of defendant's answer has been pronounced to mean more for the plaintiff than it really amounts to. In fact the ruling of the court on the motions does not affect the status of the case on its merits whatever. The ruling is more favorable to the defendant than the plaintiff, as the court over-ruled the demurrer to the third paragraph of the answer. The case will likely be tried at the November term in Owensboro.

BRILLIANT CLOSING EXERCISES.

Hartford College Pupils Before Foot Lights.

Entertainments at an End This Evening When Diplomas Will be Awarded.

Hartford College has never shown off to better advantage in the entertainments given at the close of the session than during the present week. Beginning Monday night, the citizens of Hartford and the surrounding country have been delightfully entertained at Court Hall by the pupils of this celebrated institution of learning. Upon the advice of Prof. L. N. Gray, a small charge for admission has been made, with the understanding that the amount above actual expenses should go to a fund to be expended for library books. At first there was some objection to this arrangement as these entertainments had always been given free, but when the matter was thoroughly understood, all objection was removed and the people have patronized the entertainments liberally and loyally.

On Monday evening the pupils in the primary room and those of the third and fourth grades, under Miss Mattie Moseley and Mrs. Julia Weddington, teachers, gave a splendid evening's performance to the delight of all who were present. The little folks did marvelous stunts in their various roles and showed that they had been well trained in the short time allotted, by those who have had them in charge.

Tuesday evening was given over to the pupils of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades who were under the direct supervision of Prof. A. E. Ellis and Miss Mamie Shown. These pupils furnished another evening of delight to the large audience and gave evidence of the highest training on the part of their teachers.

On Wednesday evening the declamatory contest was given and was participated in by the following young ladies and gentlemen: Miss Bertha M. Leach, Mr. Elmer Allen, Miss Ula Dunn, Miss Ruth Riley, Mr. Levi Coleman, Miss Hattie Glenn, Miss Myrtle Williams, Miss Ethel Raines and Mr. Otis Wallace. Every piece was given in a masterly way and presented a very difficult problem for the judges to solve. The judges were Prof. Runyon, of the Beaver Dam Seminary, Mrs. Rachel Shultz, of Pleasant Ridge, and Mrs. Fannie Berry, of Hartford. The decision was rendered in favor of Mr. Levi Coleman, and the handsome gold medal was presented to him in an appropriate address by Prof. Runyon, on behalf of the Hartford School Board. The second honor went to Miss Ruth Riley, she having received one vote for first place.

On Thursday evening the pupils of the Collegiate department gave a drama entitled, "Mr. Bob."

Roosevelt Lands Rhinoceros.

A bulky bull rhinoceros is the latest prize wrested from the jungle by Col. Roosevelt. From the ex-President's camp near Machakos word has been brought that the luck of the Roosevelt party continues and that 15 varieties of game, including the big rhino, have been bagged on the last expedition.

The rhinoceros was changing Mr. Roosevelt when the hunter fired. The distance was 14 paces and the animal fell dead.

The naturalists of the party are kept busy preparing the trophies which Mr. Roosevelt and his son, Kermit are bringing in daily. Forty-five skins already have been prepared for the Smithsonian Institute at Washington.

TO CONCENTRATE FORCE ON HARTFORD SECTION.

Is Plan of Construction on the M. H. and E.—Will not Tap Main Line at Cloverport.

The Madisonville Hustler publishes the following interesting story about the M. H. and E. R.

The promoters of M. H. & E. railroad have ordered a suspension of work on the line north of Madisonville, a telegram having been received here notifying the foreman in charge of the section men that this would be effective after Wednesday. Work was accordingly suspended Wednesday and when it is resumed on this end of the road is a matter of much doubt.

The men, who have been employed north of Madisonville, have been paid off and discharged until their services are required again. Foreman Nunnally will leave in a few days for Hartford and will assist the force of men at work on that section of the road.

It is understood that the reason work was suspended on this end of the road was because the promoters intended to lay the remainder of the track with the trucklaying machine, which lays more steel during the day, than the force of men at work on this division of the road. The section force had laid about two and one-half miles of steel from where the new railroad crosses the L. & N. railroad, and in a short time would have reached Ford river.

Considerable progress has been made in laying track out of Hartford and with the favorable weather conditions, which have prevailed during the past few days, work has been laid at a rapid rate. According to reports work will resume in July, but this has not been verified and is only guess work on the part of those who expressed their opinion.

An official high in railroad circles at Louisville, in an interview gave out a positive statement that the M. H. & E. railroad will not tap the main line of the Henderson Route at Cloverport but will use the track of the Pordsville Branch and will connect with the main line at Irvington. A large number of men are at work on the branch now and several other forces will be sent out in the near future. The branch will practically be rebuilt and some changes will be made in the route, making the road straighter and possibly lessening the mileage in Breckenridge considerably. The gentleman interviewed stated that there would probably be no change in schedule of the branch trains until early fall.

PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM JAIL.

Lige and Roy Crowe Cut Steel Bars.

Bill Duke and Jim Johnson Too Large to Pull Through.

Sometime between midnight and daylight yesterday morning, two noted prisoners made their escape from the Hartford Jail. They were Elijah Crowe, under sentence of seventeen years in the penitentiary and his nephew, Roy Crowe, under indictment for the murder of Emilius Wade. The former was convicted at the March term of the Ohio Circuit Court for participation in the crime and at the same time his son, Murray having pleaded guilty, was sent to the House of Reform at Lexington. The murder was one of the most brutal ever committed in Ohio county, the three Crowes having gone to the tobacco field where Mr. Wade and his wife were at work, the shots being fired by Roy Crowe without any immediate provocation on the part of Wade, who was unarmed. It is practically certain that Roy Crowe would have received a life sentence if his case had gone to a jury and but for his youth may have been sentenced to death.

No one knows just how the escape was made, but the men must have had some outside assistance in getting tools as the work on the strong steel bars shows that it was done with a regular steel hack saw and in a very workmanlike manner. Two prisoners viz: Bill Duke, white, and Jim Johnson colored remained in the jail although they could have escaped also, unless the opening which was very small in the steel cage was too close for these men to pull through. Duke is lying out a sentence for violation of the prohibition law, while Johnson has a penitentiary sentence staring him in the face for breaking into the glassing patch on the farm of Mr. F. W. Pirtle one night last week. These men both claim that they could have made their escape had they so desired, but it is not thought they could have pulled their bodies through the hole made by the Crowes as they are both considerably larger. Duke claims that most of the cutting on the steel was done by Jim Hewley about two years ago, and for some reason was never completed and had been concealed ever since. Upon gaining entrance to the outside corridor the men had comparatively easy sailing as the rooms below are unoccupied since the jailer lives in the new cottage near the jail built by the County last year. They drew some nails from a steel cap nailed on a hole in the floor which had been used for a five years ago while the jail was heated by stoves. They then swung down through this hole and dropped to the floor a distance of twelve feet, less the length of their bodies. Duke says that Roy Crowe had a hard fall and thinks that he was at least temporarily injured when he struck the floor below. However, they at once proceeded to make distance between them and the old Hartford jail and it is safe to say that they will exert every effort to prevent capture.

The Sheriff and Jailer, upon learning of the escape early yesterday morning, made the telephone wires hot and responded to shouting towns and police in the railroad in an effort to apprehend the escaping prisoners.

An appeal had been made in the case of Lige Crowe and under the plea that he was without means, the record was being sought for the purpose of the county, being a most unusual thing, if not the only instance of the kind in Ohio county. Diligent search upon the part of Jailer Pirtle failed to reveal any tool or instrument which may have been left behind which had been used by the prisoners. The old steel cage has suffered the same fate many times in the past twenty years and has been poked so many times that it is very little hindrance to resourceful prisoners when the proper implements have been placed in their hands for escape. Judge W. B. Taylor has applied to Governor Wilson to offer a reward for their capture.

Ginseng Thief Caught.

For several weeks past some one had been stealing ginseng from the Columbia Ginseng Co.'s garden out on the F. W. Pirtle farm. The thief had entered several times taking only a few pounds of the root each time. As the evidence was wanted together with the thief, the owners of the garden decided they would catch him in the act.

Plains were arranged and last Friday morning about one o'clock a burly negro armed with shovel and sick was discovered by Mr. Henry Pirtle who after watching him a few moments covered him with a gun and ordered hands up. The thief, much surprised and excited, promptly obeyed, saying "they are up boss." Mr. Pirtle took him to his residence and after communicating with Sheriff R. B. Martin, brought him to town and placed him in jail. The negro gave his name as Jim Johnson, (alias Wm. Miller) and had been about Hartford and vicinity for the past year claiming to be deaf and dumb. No one had ever heard him speak but strange as it may seem, both his hearing and speech quickly recovered when he looked into the muzzle of Henry's gun. Johnson waived examining trial and was held over to await the action of the grand jury.

There is a special law on pulling ginseng gardens and is punishable by a term in the penitentiary. No doubt the thief will find the ways of the trespasser hard. He has implicated others as being accessory, this is being investigated.

Will be Operated From Central City to Paducah and Return Every Day.

A new passenger train, which will be known as No. 35, is to be operated on the Paducah division of the Illinois Central railroad between Central City and Paducah. This train is to be put on for the convenience of the people living along the Paducah division of the Illinois Central. The business men of Central City, Greenville, Dawson Springs, Princeton and Paducah have been endeavoring to have an accommodation of this kind operated on the division and their efforts have been successful after about three years of petitioning the railroad officials.

The new time card, which goes into effect Sunday, gives the departing time of the train from Central City to Paducah shortly after 5 o'clock a. m. It will arrive in Paducah about noon and depart from that city about 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Stops will be made at all stations and the train will be operated daily. It will enable the people living along the division to go to Paducah and return home the same day.

"HANG HER!" SCREAMED MOB

Of Women When Helen Boyle
Left Court.

Both Convicted of Kidnapping
After Willie Whitla Told His Story.

While being taken from the Mercer County Courthouse back to jail during the trial of the kidnaper Boyle by Deputy Sheriff, Mrs. Helen Boyle was attacked by a mob of, perhaps, 1,000 persons, mostly women, and it was only by great efforts on the part of Deputy Sheriff, business men and several ministers that the women were prevented from doing great bodily injury to the woman who is charged with having kidnapped Willie Whitla, and who was placed on trial later and convicted.

James H. Boyle, her alleged husband, had been convicted of kidnapping earlier in the day, and he was being taken from the courthouse to jail with his wife when the demonstration occurred.

The mob had been gathered for some hours in front of the old schoolhouse, which is doing duty as a courthouse, and when the woman appeared in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Stuart a rush was made for her, pinning her to the wall. "There she is! Let's hang her! We don't need any jury!" screamed a big woman seemed to be a leader.

"Look out! Don't come near me, or I'll make you climb a tree!" said Mrs. Boyle quietly. "Why don't you go home and wash your face," she added as a final shot.

The mob swarmed round the woman with loud, angry cries, and it was only with the greatest difficulty that Stuart, aided by several men, including Rev. J. S. Dunlap, of the First Presbyterian Church of Mercer, could work his way through and start on the six square walk to the jail.

The woman was most bitter, and some of them shouted: "Get a rope and let's fix the kidnaper," at which Mrs. Boyle hung back defiance only, and seemed to some of those near her that if she were only turned loose by the officers she would "chase you all two ways!"

Sheriff William Ghess, who had charge of Boyle, did not try to flee. He seemed to the mob's noise a plot conceived to liberate Boyle, so he rushed through the mob, and with his hand always on the butt of his gun.

The attack on Mrs. Boyle was the finish of a most exciting day. James Boyle was convicted of kidnapping by the Court in record time. It took but one hour of the testimony of Little Willie Whitla, the kidnapped boy, to convince Messrs. Anderson, Miller & Stuart, his counsel, that he had not a chance in the case.

They took him out of Court and placed him in the prison cell, but he would not go. They tried to convince him that it was useless to go on the stand or make any defense, and so he was placed in the jury room, but he refused to go in, and a verdict of guilty was quickly reached. He will be sentenced to the jail of Mercer County.

Mrs. Boyle was taken to Court for the trial when the jury came out. The verdict was in her favor. Not a word of her defense was heard, but she was found guilty, and she was taken to the jail where she was being held.

Mrs. Boyle was taken to Court for the trial when the jury came out. The verdict was in her favor. Not a word of her defense was heard, but she was found guilty, and she was taken to the jail where she was being held.

The testimony of Little Willie Whitla against Boyle today was one of the features of the trial. He told all the facts in detail, and when he was taken back to the jail he was taken back to the jail.

When the kidnapping of Willie Whitla was proved and put into execution by a relative of the Whitla family is the question which James Boyle wanted to make at his trial, and when he was taken back to the jail he was taken back to the jail.

James H. Boyle was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Western penitentiary at Pittsburgh for the kidnapping of "Billy" Whitla. Mrs. Boyle indicted as Mary Doe, received a sentence of twenty-five years, with a fine of $5,000 and the costs of the prosecution.

Dental Society to Meet.

The dentists in the State are showing more than the usual amount of interest in the coming annual meeting of the Kentucky State Dental Association, to be held at Crisp Orchard Springs May 17, 18th and 19th. Arrangements are being made to make this meeting the largest and best in the history of the Association.

Dentistry, unlike many other professions, has made such rapid strides in recent years, that the numerous text books on its different branches only a few years old, are almost worthless; making it almost obligatory for the progressive dentist to attend these meetings or be conceded a back number.

A feature of this meeting will be the part taken in the program by the local societies that have been recently organized throughout the State. Each society has elected an essayist and a number of clinicians, which will make this a unique and interesting meeting. Several of the local societies will attend in a body.

GARFIELD PRAYED IN TIME OF WAR.

Veteran Tells Interesting Story of Middle Creek Battle.

"This is the spot!" The grizzled veteran of the Civil War gave his first a sweeping swing to point the battle, and we passed up under the barge of rocks.

"Early of a morning, before sunrise; late of an afternoon, after sunset, I have seen him here alone—praying!"

And so he had. The exact spot is in the heart of Hays Hollow, near Paintsville, Ky., and is selected by an overlooking rock.

The winter of 1861 was an open one. Garfield, with his regiment, the Forty-second Ohio, was encamped near Paintsville. The town was only a very small village then; and Garfield was only a captain, but he had been assigned an important duty. General Hunt was preparing to move against Nashville by way of Bowling Green. Western Kentucky, however, was in the hands of the Confederates; so was the eastern part of the State; and it was, therefore, considered folly for Hunt to attempt to march through the center, with a powerful army on each flank.

Accordingly, Garfield was sent to drive the Confederates from the mountains. His forces were augmented by the Fortieth Ohio Infantry, the Fourteenth and Twenty-second Kentucky Infantry, and eight companies of the "Wild Horse" Cavalry—in all, about three thousand men.

Garfield's headquarters, with a force of five thousand Confederates, was established at Hays Hill, three miles south of Paintsville. Zellerbach, with another powerful army of Confederates, was marching through the Cumberland Gap to co-operate with Marshall. On the 3rd of January, 1862, Garfield decided to attack the Confederates at Hays Hill; but Marshall, learning that his ground was unimpeachably strong, made cover of darkness, and took a strategic position on Middle Creek, eight miles away.

On the morning of the 10th, Garfield's army of 3,000 men crossed the Middle Creek river. They were met by Marshall's army of 5,000 men, and a battle followed.

Garfield's army was defeated, and he was forced to retreat. He was followed by Marshall's army, and a battle followed. Garfield's army was defeated, and he was forced to retreat.

The night that followed was dark and foggy. It is related by an eyewitness that while Garfield's army was "shattered on their guns," he was on his knees in the dark, praying for a plan. As he knelt there, praying, out his soul to God, a "wild fire" from Marshall's camp illuminated the dark forest. It was Marshall's burning "everything" that could flammable his retreat through the mountains to the Pound Gap; and a reconnaissance at daylight the next morning showed the field abandoned and the enemy gone.

When the news that Garfield had been ordered up the Big Sandy against Marshall was announced to President Lincoln, it is said that the President said: "Secretary Stanton, and asked who the man was they were sending into such 'dangerously close quarters'."

Garfield's commission as a brigadier general was dated from this battle on Middle Creek.

WONDERS OF HUMAN BRAIN.

Human Efficiency Depends Upon its Harmony.

Is a Wireless Station and Plain
is the "C. Q. D." says Scientist.

It has recently been asked, "Is the human brain a wireless station, and is not plain the C. Q. D.?"

The imagination is an apt one, calling up the question of the forces which fill the universe and have been much considered by the Eastern wise men and "adepts."

The brain is a wireless station which sounds a warning when there is discord in the relation between the forces of the individual and those with which he is related.

Human health and the maximum of human efficiency depend upon the rhythmic harmony of the functions; and, therefore, union of all these diverse batteries under the perfect control of that centralizing power which has its fingers upon the key connecting not only with the great central dynamo of life, but also with its individual "central."

What is that finger? Man's conscious thought, and his will power when he wills to use it!

The Tattvic law, as the Eastern Philosophers call it, explains the matter from one point of view. Tattvic signifies a mode of emotion, and the Tattvic law defines five so-called ethereal forces, or tattvas, differentiated by their form of motion (that is, their vibration); and two others still more subtle and vastly more powerful, which for clearness of comprehension we will name primary forces; or better still, one creative force in two phases—active and passive, or positive and negative. They are the Love and Wisdom which created the whole universe and which make its continued existence possible. Out of the interaction of these come the five other forces one after the other, modifications of the primary law.

These forces are (1) ether, (2) air, (3) fire and light (the same vibration in different states), (4) earth. The first two are the most subtle, and the last two are the most gross. ing it to fast crumble away, back to old mother earth, yet the spirit no doubt has now a dwelling so permanently built as to never crumble away. We miss him so much. Never again can we look across the way and see him going to and fro, giving attention to home surroundings and showing interest in what grandsons were doing about the farm. No more we hear his cheerful words. That once tender and touching voice is still forever. Loved ones, we know full well the cup you are now drinking is all bitterness. We bid you look to the Heavenly Father, as Jesus did in the Garden of Gethsemane, and pray: "Father, all things are possible unto Thee; take away this cup from me; nevertheless, not what I will, but what Thou wilt." The most bitter of this cup can surely pass when you think of those words, "If you want to see a Christian die, just watch me," which he uttered on the last night of his pilgrimage here.

A good man gone; a noble life lived a clean record left on the page of time and a fond memory of him lingers with us still.

Oh, that we also lay sleeping Beneath the churchyard sod, With our bodies at rest On the quiet earth's breast, And our souls at home with God.

FILIPINO LEADER TO VISIT UNITED STATES.

Aguinaldo Coming Over This Summer to See Seattle Exposition.

According to reports from the province of Cavite, Aguinaldo, once President of the Philippines Republic will pay a long-contemplated visit to the United States during the coming summer. Since emerging from compulsory protection of the Federal Government on July 4, 1901, Aguinaldo has been a close resident on his hacienda, about fifteen miles from the naval station of Cavite.

His interest in local politics has not been especially marked, and his life has been one of quietness and rural retirement. For several years back Aguinaldo has devoted considerable study to American politics and conditions and has expressed himself as desirous of making an extended visit to the Estados Unidos.

It is now stated that the trans-Pacific voyage will be undertaken about the beginning of the heated season, which indicates that a start will be made early in July. The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition is given as the principal object of the visit, and Seattle will be the city at which his landing on American soil is made.

While in the United States, the journey will lead the ex-President and his party over the greater part of the country, and when in the city of Washington, President Taft and Admiral Dewey will be given an opportunity for renewal of acquaintance made in 1898 and 1900.

McLean County Court House to be Completed.

Work on the new McLean county court house is progressing splendidly. The brick work has been practically completed, and the timbers for the roof are now being put in place. It is now expected that the building will be completed by September 1. It becomes more apparent as the work progresses that it will be a substantial and commodious structure.

WILL BE SOLD IN- TO SERVITUDE.

Fate of the Loafers and Wife Deserters.

Mayor Has Instructed the Police to Turn in Names of All Loungers.

The Owensboro Inquirer disseminates as follows on the conditions in Owensboro:

With the return of warm weather the usual spring and summer nuisances are beginning to make themselves manifest, and the authorities have begun a movement to rid the courthouse curb of its loungers, the levee if its wharf rats, the depot of its hoboes and the city generally of loafers, vagrants, wife deserters, bunco men and fakirs of all descriptions. Activities against these social parasites have already been begun.

An attorney of the local bar suggested to Mayor O'Bryan a few days ago that he have the many loafers with whom Owensboro is infested sold into servitude. Mayor O'Bryan took the suggestion as a joke until he was shown the Kentucky statute providing just such a remedy to wipe out vagrancy. It was also related to the mayor that several years ago this custom was general and he was shown a now prominent farmer who was sold into servitude 20 years ago and who was aroused into accomplishing something by the disgrace of the sale.

After further investigation into the matter Mayor O'Bryan decided that the public sale of vagrants was the best remedy possible. He accordingly decided to appeal to Commonwealth's Attorney Ringo for assistance and plans are now on foot for the stamping out of vagrancy and wife or child desertion in Owensboro and Davies county. Mayor O'Bryan has instructed his police to report to him the names of all salacious, dissolute, lounging persons without visible means of support. These names will be presented to the Commonwealth's attorney and all of those whose cases are aggravated enough to demand immediate attention will be arrested and thrown in jail or compelled to execute bond in the sum of $100 for their appearance at the next term of circuit court, when they will be indicted.

Sections 4758-4765 of the Kentucky statutes provide that any able bodied person who is found loitering or rambling about with no visible means of support or without some honest calling, or who has deserted his habitation and left a wife or child without means of subsistence, or who is idle or dissolute in habit, may be arrested for committing a misdemeanor. The arrest may be made by authority of a justice of the peace on his own information or on the oath of another and the vagrant, if found guilty, is to be held to the grand jury on a bond of $100, in default of which he goes to jail. On indictment by the grand jury the vagrant is to be tried by a jury and if found guilty the jury fixes the time that he shall be bound out to labor or sold into servitude, the terms being from one to twelve months.

The vagrants, white or black, are to be sold at public auction and the purchaser exerts the same authority over them as a master does over apprentices. The proceeds of the sale go to pay the costs of the trial and are then reported among the creditors of the vagrant, if he owes debts. Should there then be a balance it goes to the family of the vagrant, if he has one and otherwise back to the purchaser who is to pay it to the vagrant at the expiration of his servitude.

tude, and the vagrant in turn is to be held accountable for its use.

Mayor O'Bryan thinks that the first haul made in Owensboro will get about fifty men. There are now on the city pension list some cases which are to be closely investigated. Some of the tobacco factories and other industries in Owensboro are now looking for men, so that there can not be offered the excuse of being unable to find work. The officials insist that this movement is neither a joke nor a bluff, but is in dead earnest.

OPINION STANDS AS FIRST WRITTEN.

Court of Appeals Denies An- derson's Petition.

For Modification and Extension of Ruling on Question Aris- ing in Former Trial.

The court of appeals has refused to extend or modify its opinion in the case of the commonwealth of Kentucky against T. S. Anderson, wherein the defendant was convicted of false swearing in making oath to a statement of the condition of the Daviess County Bank and Trust Company and appeal taken to the Court of Appeals and the Daviess Circuit Court reversed on the grounds of error in the refusal of Judge Birkhead to vacate the bench and in overruling the motion for change of venue to a county other than Daviess.

Application for modification and extension was made by Anderson, every point upon which he relied for his defense having been eliminated by the opinion of the appellate court, in which it was held that the notary public who swore Anderson to the statement was qualified to administer the oath, that the evidence was sufficient to support a conviction and that confinement in the penitentiary for a term of three years would not be excessive.

Petition for modification and extension having been disposed of, Anderson is entitled to bail, and his attorneys say that he will be out of jail within the next three or four days. He can be admitted to bail when the mandate arrives, but there is some question as to whether the order can be made during a recess of court. Attorneys for Anderson affirm that the clerk of the Daviess Circuit Court is the proper person to take the bond, and that he may take it at any time after the mandate of reversal arrives.

Anderson has been in jail since January, when he was convicted. But for his petition for modification and extension of opinion, he might have been released immediately following the judgment of reversal in the court of appeals, six or eight weeks ago.

Anderson was released from jail shortly before noon Saturday, having executed bond in the sum of $1,000. The mandate of the court of appeals, reversing the verdict of the Daviess circuit court and giving him a new trial, was received by the Circuit Clerk during the morning, and arrangements were immediately made for executing bond. The sureties are John Reinhardt, Dr. J. H. Hickman, S. W. Tompkins and Fred A. VanRensselaer.

The amount of bond was fixed in the mandate, and, though it appears rather small, it does not represent the bond under which Anderson really stands. He was already under bond in the sum of $10,000 on one indictment and $5,000 on another, these being indictments that have not been called for trial.

Anderson left the jail and went to his home without being seen except by those in the jail. After the bond had been executed, Mrs. Anderson went to the jail and visited the cell of her husband, as her custom has been. Shortly afterwards a closed carriage drove up. They entered the carriage and were driven to their home on Frederica street.

Before leaving the jail, Anderson said goodbye to J. A. Harris, recently incarcerated after being convicted of attempted arson. Harris and Anderson were formerly associated in business and have occupied adjoining cells since Harris has been in jail. Anderson, when saying farewell to Harris, expressed the hope that he would shortly be released. Anderson shook hands with several other prisoners before leaving the jail.

The Army Worm.

Prof. Harrison Garman, entomologist of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, has issued a bulletin on the habits of the army worm and the methods which should be adopted by farmers for protection against this pest. Prof. Garman says: "The habits of the army worm place the insect largely at our mercy if we will but make use of our knowledge in season. The fact that the eggs are laid in unused grass land, in meadows not grazed, in stubble fields grown up with weeds and about old straw stacks is all we require to enable us to circumvent the worms. It has been proved more than once that plowing it some time in advance of seeding will prevent outbreaks on the land so treated, except worms come in from neighboring premises. If such precaution can be made general in a locality serious injury from the army worm should not occur there.

"The fondness of the adult army worm moth for sweets, as such that poisoned habits consisting of molasses and cobalt or arsenous acid can be used on them with good effect. No other moth known to me is so attracted to baits in such large numbers and feeds upon them so eagerly.

"It has been found that they can be confined completely to fields by making a trench about them with plow and made taking care that the far side is vertical or preferably a little inclined toward the infested field, so as to render it difficult for them to ascend. They accumulate in large numbers in such trenches and can be destroyed from time to time by spraying with coal oil or by sprinkling straw with coal oil and scattering it in the trenches and igniting it."

DANGER LURKS IN OPPORTUNITIES.

Too Many Alluring Chances to to Make Fortune May Wreck a Man's Career.

A very ancient story says: "A farmer had a dove of Logic which he assembled for their meals by knocking on a fence with sticks or stones. One day the waiting bird detected the familiar sound, and started off pell-mell in the direction whence it came. Before they reached the place, however, to their vast astonishment they also heard it from the other side and turned and ran pell-mell toward that. And so they ran, first in one direction and then in another, until, when the farmer himself came down and rapped upon the fence, they were so completely tuckered out by chasing the illusive signals of red-headed woodpeckers drilling trees for worms that they had no strength to go and get their food."

In this great American republic opportunities are paraded innumerable. It is this fact that constitutes the greatest peril that we have to meet. While we are rushing after, or else are actually employed in trying to utilize, some golden opportunity, we hear a dozen others, some silver, others brazen, knocking on the fence around our little field!

There lies your danger, friend! Can you turn a deaf ear to them? Can you settle down to till your farm while the calls of the city streets are sounding in your ear? Can you get your teeth and hang on to your job at the forge or the loom in the dry-goods store or the millinery shop, while the gold-fields of the Klondike are beckoning you their way? Can you leave your money on deposit in the savings bank while promoters are flaunting dazzling investments in stocks before your eyes?

How many people I myself have known who have rushed from one business to another, until too exhausted in body, mind or pocketbook to reach the fence when the actual, vital, heavenly opportunity knocked upon the rail—Charles Frederic Goss in the New Idea Woman's Magazine for June.

THE EXPECTED HAS HAPPENED.

Rival Candidates for Con- gress Comes Together.

Had Realized that Strained Rela- tions Would Make a Meet- ing Dangerous.

It has been an open secret, says the Henderson Journal that C. C. Givens and A. O. Stanley are not warm friends as they were at one time. Relations have been strained ever since Mr. Givens began to cast longing eyes at the shoes worn by Congressman Stanley. The strained relations broke wide open with the now famous letters that passed between Mr. Givens and Mr. Stanley. In fact, feeling has become so bitter that mutual friends of both parties knew it was absolutely dangerous to have them meet.

Mr. Stanley was in the city Tuesday and Wednesday, and it was freely predicted that if the two candidates met, something would happen.

Friends of Mr. Stanley plead with him not to go on the streets, especially in the vicinity of the courthouse, but he was determined to venture out, declaring that he had a right to walk the streets of Henderson. Friends of Mr. Givens begged him to have business in Henderson for a few days, and to leave the office himself to the editorial staff on the second floor. But he was equally insistent on his right to walk the streets of Henderson regardless of the presence of Congressman Stanley.

The expected happened. Stanley started for his office on First street Wednesday morning.

Mr. Givens was just starting for the post-office.

Friends in the courthouse saw them approach each other and knew that the meeting was inevitable, but they were powerless to prevent it.

They met just in front of Levy Furniture Company's store. Mr. Stanley made a quick move towards his hip pocket. Mr. Givens made a similar move only a second later. Stanley drew from his pocket a handkerchief and wiped the bead spot on his classic dome.

Givens drew from his pocket—plug of tobacco, completely suppressing his temptation to ask Stanley for a chew.

Which indicates the deep feeling between the two rivals.

They nodded—nodded only—and passed on.

Campaigning for Wives.

A man and a woman purporting to represent a syndicate of Oklahoma men and claiming to have the endorsement of Gov. Haskell, are establishing agencies in the Atlantic States, the object of which is to obtain wives for Oklahoma bachelors. The campaign, which has begun is to be continued until 10,000 young women have been taken to the Western state. The agencies offer good homes good husbands and a future of promise as inducements. They pay all expenses and guarantee the girls positions until they decide to marry. Asked where the profit came in, John Gibson, who is the principal agent of the syndicate, said: "We make our money simply through the development of the state."

This campaign for wives is not the first one of the kind that has been waged but so far as is known it is the first one in the history of the country to be inaugurated by land promoters. Here we have matrimony put upon a purely business basis. Land sales drag. The owners of the land realizing that they can not better conditions while there are so many bachelors in the new country arrange to reduce the number of bachelors. The scatter young women through the state. Young men see these young women and the rest is left to Cupid—and Fate. The young men, their thoughts turning to matrimony, begin to dream of homes of their own. And here is where the land agents come in. Doubtless the imported girls will be watched and when they seem to have won young men's hearts the suggestion that a town home or a farm over in the next county would be just the thing for them. Simple isn't it? And practical too. Incidentally it is a tribute to women. The foresight, that these men have shown is not better evidence by any feature of the plan, however than by the one that takes into consideration the time for beginning the campaign. The franchisees are looking for early returns. Spring is here—and is not spring nesting time?—Boston Courier.

President Finley Advocates Wise Fortune Management.

That the wise management of the forests is regarded by President W. W. Finley, of the Southern Railway, as a necessity in the development of the South is strongly brought out in his recent address to the student body of the university of Georgia.

"In my opinion," said President Finley, "the economic importance to the management of our Southern forests so as to secure from them the largest present profit consistent with the preservation cannot be overestimated. In addition to their influence upon stream flow, tending to diminish the destructiveness of floods and to maintain higher water for navigation and for the generation of power in dry seasons, they form the foundation of our woodworking industries.

"If all comparatively recent years the North Atlantic States produced in furniture manufacturing and other woodworking industries. Timber supplies in that section have been almost exhausted and these industries are following the rapidly receding forests from the South and West, greatly increasing the value of our timber lands.

"If Southern woodworking industries are to thrive in years to come, they must be assured of a constant supply of their raw material. This can be brought about only by the adoption of scientific methods of forestry by the owners of our woodlands."

DOOM OF THE FREAK HATS.

Texas Legislature Against "Peach Baskets" and "Wash Bowls."

Hats that resemble peach baskets, wash bowls, or bread trays, and sheath gowns and "fats" shall not be made by the young women of Texas. If certain legislators in the State Assembly can prevent it, Lone Star State may stand for a gun tight once in a while, and a burning of the stake now and then, but a peach basket "fat" or a director's—never again.

Recently a bill was introduced into the Legislature concerning the annual appropriation for the State Industrial College for Girls, where millinery and dressmaking are taught. Let the young women bow to the dictates of fashion of the effete East. Representative E. C. Gales, backed by other legislators, recently introduced the following amendment to the appropriation bill:

"It is herein provided that no part of the foregoing appropriation for the State Industrial College for Girls, shall be available for the purpose stated if the authorities of said college shall permit any of the students of said college to be taught how to make any hat that shall cost more than the sum of $20, or any dress that shall cost more than $20, or any dress that shall cost more than 15 cents.

"Or to make any hat that shall be more than eight inches in diameter through the crown at the base thereof, or whose side diameter shall be greater at the top or apex thereof than at the base of same, or which shall have a diameter greater than 12 inches in the clear—that is to say, from the tip to tip of the brim, or any hat which shall have a crown which slopes less than one inch in two, or has a brim which turns downward, or any hat which shall be shaped in the form of an ellipse, or in the form of a peach basket, or in the form of a bread tray, or in the form of a wash bowl, or in the form of any other than a true circle, or which shall have a crown less than three inches or more than six inches in depth.

"Any hat which shall have upon it any bird, or parts of same, or any artificial flowers which have been made by the sweatshop labor of Florence, Milan or Naples, nor shall any part of this appropriation be used for the purpose of teaching said students how to make sheath gowns, and no person shall be entitled to receive instruction at said college nor to teach therein shall wear any hat, suit or dress which is prohibited by the specifications herein contained."—Austin Cor. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented. FRIDAY, MAY 14.

Senator Aldridge believes in a tariff for the "bean eaters" only.

The work of revising the tariff will not create any cyclone, but it is the death like stillness which is hurting business.

It is well that the May Music Festival, recently held in Louisville, did not begin with the same kind of music with which it ended.

It is pretty tough when a man with four hundred wives is compelled to hunt a new job, but the ex-Sultan of Turkey will have to get busy.

The expected importation of lion skins will probably be sufficient to accommodate the asses who would nominate him for President in 1912.

It is about this way in politics:—It was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be; it is a fight between the down-and-outs and the up-and-ins.

Senator William M. Stewart, who died in Washington recently will be longest remembered because of inventing the phrase, "the crime of '73."

A Rhode Island man has invented a money counting machine. It is interesting to think how many people there are in the world who do not need such a machine.

It is thought that Porto Rico will have to be deprived of local self government to a large extent because of the abuses of power already conferred. This ought to receive particular notice from those who have been vociferously crying for self government for the Philippines.

The closing exercises of Hartford College this week have been well up to the high standard heretofore set by this noted institution of learning. The display made by all the grades has shown that the teachers have been faithful and have worked with diligence in training their pupils.

President Taft is right in setting his foot down on the scheme to enfranchise the citizens of Washington City, and give them representation in Congress. The great majority of those who live in Washington City have no politics. The thousands who work in the various departments, under the sham civil service adjunct to the government, are as so many dummies in so far as political opinions go.

By oversight, three short editorials were repeated in our paper last week. We have been installing a new press and have had some trouble in getting it under way and in consequence have not had as much time to give to the proof reading as usual, and owing to the fact that two operators through error set the matter twice, it crept into the column, and went through the entire edition without being observed. However, these errors often happen in the best regulated newspaper offices.

As the Republican fight in Louisville, over the nomination for Mayor, was won, with the Herald supporting one candidate and the Post another, the chances for Republican success in the final election grow beautifully less as the days go by. We presume the Republicans after the short reign power which they have enjoyed are now ready to return to the old Democratic regime of dismemberment, stuffing ballot boxes and cracked skulls for Republican workers on election day.

It was a wise move when Republicans of the New England States sought the party into a move to revise the tariff. When they did this they were already organized for a tariff revision which would be to the interest of New England at the expense of the rest of the country. It looks as though it would be necessary for the other States to combine in order to get decent treatment at the hands of Congress on the tariff bill. Senator Aldridge has the upper hand and is using it for all it is worth in the interest of his own particular section of the Union.

Boyle, the kidnapper, who was sentenced to life imprisonment this week made the plea through his attorney, in order to obtain leniency from the Judge that he had taken good care of the child. But this plea it appears did not weigh very strong with his honor and he ironically said in imposing the sentence that it was to Boyle's interest to do so, as the boy was his "prize asset." It is to be hoped that this severe sentence may have a wholesome effect upon those who would commit this particular crime, for it is one of the most revolting of the long list of crimes.

It is high time the citizens of Hartford were organizing for the purpose of inducing some manufacturing establishments to locate in our midst when the new railroad is completed. However, we have written so much on this question, we feel that we have about exhausted our patience. Our people ought to know that these enterprises, being sought by every town of business spirit, do not come to those who merely wait. Some inducements must be held out and some effort must be made. We need a chair factory, a stove, hub and spoke factory, a cement block plant, tile factory and a laundry. We could accommodate many other industries, but we merely mention a few of those which it appears to us could do well, here, and in fact might be obtained with little exertion.

President Taft has appointed Henry Grover Connor, a Democrat, to be United States Judge for the Eastern District of North Carolina. Among all of the appointments which President Roosevelt and Taft have made from the Democratic ranks we are inclined to take the matter of appointments to the judiciary as most excusable. The judiciary should be above partisan politics, and we endorse the appointment by a Republican President of qualified persons from the opposite political belief to places on the bench, notwithstanding the fact that no Democrat President has ever been guilty of appointing a Republican to such a position. However there is no excuse for a Republican President to appoint a Democrat to any other position under his administration, where a competent Republican can be found.

Paralyzing Great Britain.

Great Britain is making history fast and furious at this time. The British Isles hold in their cities and their industrial districts a mass of people dependent upon active manufacturing and commercial conditions for even existence.

Depression in trade renders them desperate. The agricultural laborers, the tenant farmers, feel keenly also the decline of purchasing power of the consumers in the cities when dullness exists in trade and the number of those unemployed is increased.

The unrest then becomes general, and political agitators find the voters of the Kingdom in condition to accept their radical views and ideas.

This was the case when the present the radical and socialistic budget introduced last week by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Lloyd George, is a play for the votes of the discontented, populace, and at the same time of compliance with the demands of the socialistic propaganda desirous to nationalize the wealth of the Kingdom.

The American people have not realized what the socialistic demand for an income tax in the United States means in the way of future action in the same direction. It is pressed here by a few men who are at heart Socialists, though calling themselves Democrats or Republicans, and it is advocated by many men who despise socialism and are unaware that they are doing the work of undermining our political institutions and social system by their co-operation in this design.

There exist some reasons for income tax in Great Britain that do not obtain in the United States.

There are ancient grants and feudal privileges that relieve from equitable taxation of property, and there is the operation of the law of entail, which insures to a degree the maintenance of a class distinguished from those who acquire income through their individual efforts. The income tax of Great Britain covers all classes, those who "inherit" property producing incomes and those who gain incomes through their own work. The levying of the income tax is supposed to be for the raising of revenue, and that is stated to be the object by the Chancellor of the Exchequer in England and by many of the income tax advocates in the United States.

But the real purpose of an income tax was revealed on Tuesday night last, when Mr. Snowden, a socialistic member of Parliament, stated that the purpose of the budget did not go far enough to suit his followers.

He said: "If we have any influence on future budgets this is not the extent of the taxation that will be laid on unearned incomes."

"It is not the least tribute the idle class will be called upon to pay for dealing with the problem of poverty."

"Our object is to make the rich poorer and the poorer richer."

"There is no way under heaven of making the poor richer other than by making the rich poorer."

A highwayman's reason was the argument of a Parliamentarian!

And this in the Parliament of Great Britain.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Senate by a vote of 35 to 44 declined to reduce by one-quarter of a cent a pound the duty on pig lead. By a viva voce vote the Senate adopted the rate of 2½ cents a pound as recommended by the committee.

Killed by Team.

The Owensboro Messenger says: Ed Stevens, a well known young farmer, died at his home three miles northeast of Livermore, Thursday afternoon, as the result of injuries sustained while driving a fractious horse to a disc harrow. Just how the accident occurred is not known, as there was no one with Mr. Stevens at the time.

One of the horses attached to the harrow was fractious and, about 10 o'clock Thursday morning Mr. Stevens, led the horses to the barn some distance away and put them in their stalls. He then went to the house and, although he made no complaint, members of the family noticed that he appeared to be dazed. It was later discerned that the harrow had been overturned before the team was taken out.

Dr. Ford, of Livermore, was called and made an examination of Mr. Stevens. He ascertained that he had been struck, evidently a severe blow, above and in front of the right ear. He was probably struck by some portion of the harrow, as the implement was turned over, though it is possible that he was kicked by the fractious horse. His condition was regarded as so serious that Dr. Hardwick, of Livermore, was called in consultation.

Dr. Hardwick reached the patient shortly after noon, and both he and Dr. Ford did everything possible to relieve him, but without success. He fell into a stupor early in the afternoon and about 3:30 o'clock died.

Mr. Stevens was twenty-seven years old and unmarried. Arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

It was an eye lash finish between Miss Borah and Miss Essee King, of Hartford, Miss Borah having only 200 more votes than Miss King. The voting will doubt be lively the next two weeks as the contest closes on the 29th inst. At the present time there is but very little difference in the standing of eight or ten of the contestants and a little hard work might place anyone of them in the lead and place them within the reach of the splendid piano which will be awarded on that day. The piano has been in use at the court hall this week, where it has been thoroughly tested by talented musicians who are unanimous in pronouncing it one of the finest instruments ever brought to Hartford. Every contestant should be busy during the next two weeks, remembering that the ballot box will pass out of our hands the last week of the contest and will be placed in a local bank as per instructions on another page, where ballots and money may be deposited without the knowledge of anyone to be counted on the last day.

exercised there was no meeting of Rough River Lodge Knights of Pythias Tuesday evening. This lodge will have work in the first and second rank next Tuesday evening and every member is urged to be present.

One of the big events in fraternal circles was initiation of Hefflin Camp, W. O. W., at Noreek schoolhouse, Monday, May 10th.

The entire camp of 26 members were initiated and installed by Hartford Camp, No. 202, assisted by McHenry, Centertown, Rumsay, and a number of other camps represented. After the regular ceremonies there were a number of responses from Com B. S. Chamberlin; Past Com. Willis Hefflin; Clerk Alex Porter, Azro Rowan, in fact, all the officers-elect. Visiting brothers who responded were Henry Davis, Adam Nave, R. L. Twedell, — Carter and many others.

All were then invited to the residence of Esq. B. S. Chamberlin, where they enjoyed a most sumptuous feast, prepared in the most pleasing and tasty manner by the committee and their wives. There were 107 guests who partook of this splendid feast. In the wee sma' hours of the morning all departed, each one feeling better for being a Woodman of the World and having met the newly made brothers.

MEAT IN AFRICA.

When the Butcher Murders a Bull the People Get Beef.

Travelers in Africa find the standard of living somewhat different from what they are accustomed to at home. Mary Hall in her book, "A Woman's Trek From the Cape to Cairo," throws a strong light upon the condition of market and kitchen in British Central Africa.

When the native butcher proposes to kill an ox, notice to that effect is sent round to the white people on the previous day. Once they were apprised of the fact by the following startling announcement: "A bulle will be murdered tomorrow morning at 6 a. m."

This cold blooded crime, so carefully premeditated, even to the exact hour, was, however, not committed, as the next morning a second notice was issued as follows: "The bulle ran away this morning, so was not murdered." But this was an exceptional case.

I heard one story which is as characteristic of the native that I repeat it. The man who related it told me that the incident occurred when he was on a journey and was suffering from a bad attack of fever. One evening he fancied he would like some eggs and told his boy to get two and boil them lightly.

After a time they were brought to him as hard as bullets. He told the boy he must get some more and boil them less; but, alas, these were brought to him in the same condition, and the poor fellow wished he had never ordered them at all.

Being unwilling to give in, he made another attempt and told his boy, "Come to me when the water boils." The boy did so.

"Now," said his master, "put the eggs in, and when you have counted fifty take them out."

The native method of reckoning is to count up to ten and then begin again, arriving at the total by the number of the tens counted. The sick man heard the boy start fair and get as far as four tens, when a second boy interfered and questioned whether it were the third or fourth ten.

This started a discussion, and as they could not agree it was decided to begin all over again. Meanwhile the eggs were still boiling and getting harder and harder. This was about the last straw, and, ill as the man felt, he was compelled to get out of bed and put a summary end to the cooking operations.

SOME SURE THINGS.

Do Not Get on Your Ability to Perform These Feats.

Beta to be avoided by those who are cocksure they can do all things are those relating to athletic feats. It would seem that a good runner could easily give a start of fifty yards in a hundred to a man who was doing the fifty yards by hopping on one leg. But few runners, if any, can afford to give that amount of start to any man who is at all strong on his legs. For the first five yards or so they go at practically the same pace, so that to run ninety-five yards while his opponent is hopping forty-five he has to go more than twice as fast, and it is a weak man indeed who cannot hop fifty yards in ten seconds.

An ordinary wooden match is easily broken in the fingers, but, although there are many who will bet they can do it, none succeed in accomplishing the task if the match is laid across the nail of the middle finger of either hand and pressed upon by the first and third fingers of that hand, despite its seeming so easy at first sight.

No one can crush an egg placed lengthwise between his clasped hands—that is, if the egg be sound and has the ordinary shell of a hen's egg. It is safe to bet a man that he cannot get out of a chair without bending his body forward or putting his feet under it if he is sitting on it, not at the edge of it.

Another equally certain wager is that a man cannot stand at the side of a room with both of his feet touching the wall—without lengthwise.

It is safe to bet any man, save one who is blind, that he cannot stand for five minutes without moving if he is blindfolded.

Very Different.

It is never embarrassing in a novel for a rich man to find a lot of poor kin. There is always a vacancy in a bank, where the rich man finds a good position for the oldest son, who soon becomes the bank's president. Another child shows a genius for painting, and the rich man sends him to Italy to study. In a month or two the child returns a great artist. But how different in real life! Ah, how vastly different!—Athenian Globe.

She Had Often Studied It.

Little Marie had returned from her first visit to Sunday school. "And what lesson are you to study for next Sunday?" her mother asked. "Numm' much," said the four-year-old rather scornfully. "Her jest said to learn all about the catalkin', and me knowed that already."—Lippincott's.

Like the Bee.

"I, sir," said Mr. Dustin Stax, "am like the busy bee. I have industriously stored the good things of life." "Yes, And anybody who tried to stop you was very likely to get stung!"—Washington Star.

Force of Habit.

Captain of Signalers—O—G—G, what the deuce does the fellow mean? There's no word with three G's running. Corporal—Beg pardon, sir, but Signaller Higgins he stutters!—London Punch.

GIFTED LUNATICS.

One Faculty Strongly Developed in Many Insane Persons.

One of the most peculiar features of insanity is that occasionally one faculty, either sight, hearing, smell, taste or touch, is extraordinarily acute. Certain insane persons, insensible to every other impression, have a pronounced taste for music and can repeat with accuracy an air which they may have heard but once. Others have a recollection of form and color and display an aptitude for drawing, while more frequently one may meet with an inmate of an asylum who has a special memory for figures, dates, proper names and words generally.

There is a case on record, for instance, of an imbecile who at twenty-seven had such an extraordinary memory that he could solve the most difficult problems in arithmetic and algebra and repeat word for word long poems after once hearing them. In another case a boy of fourteen, with a defective brain, who had the greatest difficulty in learning to read, could, if allowed two or three minutes to read over a page printed in a foreign language or treating of questions of which he was ignorant, repeat the words from memory as correctly as if the book had been lying before him.

Very curious was the case of another man, a devout churchgoer, who could remember the day when every person had been buried in the parish for thirty-five years and could repeat, with unvarying accuracy, the name and age of the deceased and mourners at the funeral. And yet he was a complete fool, and outside of the line of burials he had not one idea and could not give an intelligent reply to a single question or even be trusted to feed himself.

At Earlswood asylum, England, they have records of imbeciles who could not only repeat accurately a page or more of any book which had been read years before, even though it was a book they did not understand in the least, but also of an insane person who could repeat backward what he had just read.

Another curious case is that of an imbecile who, in the first place, never failed to go to church and who on reaching home could repeat the sermon word by word, saying, "Here the minister coughed; here he stopped to blow his nose," and so on.

In another case an imbecile knew the Bible so perfectly that if you asked him where such and such a verse was to be found he could tell without hesitation and repeat the chapter.

All these instances are well authenticated, and others equally amazing and true could be added. And just as there is one sense which is sometimes wonderfully acute in persons of weak intellect, so in the case of blind people the sense of smell or hearing is often very keen.

One of the most remarkable cases on record was that of Julia Brace, a female deaf and blind mute who could distinguish brothers and sisters by smell and who recognized anybody she had met before by the same means.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Rhymed Task Master.

In the studio of an artist on Madison avenue there is a sign that would seem suited for almost any place where there is work to do. Of course it is exceptionally well adapted to the needs of dreaming artists. It reads:

When'er a task is put to you
Don't idly sit and view it
Nor be content and wish it done—
Begin at once and do it.

In this studio it was of course artistically printed and framed. Within view of the motto every one was hard at work, and the man who sat nearest said it never gave him a moment's rest. He could not look at an unfinished job without seeing or hearing the jingle of the rhyme.—New York Press.

Why He Didn't Rise.

It was married men's night at the revival meeting. "Let all you husbands who have troubles on your minds stand up!" shouted the emotional preacher at the height of his spasms. Instantly every man in the church rose to his feet except one.

"Ah!" exclaimed the preacher, peering out at this lone sinner, who occupied a chair near the door and apart from the others. "You are the one in a million."

"It ain't that," piped back this one helplessly as the rest of the congregation turned to gaze suspiciously at him. "I can't get up. I'm paralyzed!"

How Erasmus Found Light.

Voting is something of a hazard at times if we do not happen to have the plain guidance of the old dorky janitor in Princeton. Erasmus, being asked how he had voted, replied: "In the unshin', sah, I was inclined to de Republican cause, for they gave me $3, but in the afternoon de Democrats gave me $2. So, sah, I voted de Democrat ticket straight, because dey was de leas' corrup', an—de leas' corrup', sah!"—Success Magazine.

The Real Reason.

"De po' child died fum eatin' too much watahmillion."
"Huh! Dar ain't no sitch ah thing as too much watahmillion."
"Well, den, dar was'n't enough boy."
—Puck.

It Had Been Read.

"That old tightwad uncle of mine is dead."
"Haa his will been read yet?"
"Did you hear what I called him?"—Cleveland Leader.

To be proud of learning is the greatest ignominy.—Taylor.

TOO CLEAN.

African Natives Who Were Lavish in Their Use of Soap.

Miss Mary Kingsley, who made many journeys in the wilds of Africa, used to relate how once, finding it necessary to cleanse a much soiled and stained blouse, she carried it, with a cake of soap, to a neighboring spring, where an interested group of native women watched her wash it. They were much impressed by the way in which the spots disappeared, and it emerged as good as new.

The next morning when it came time to break camp Miss Kingsley missed her soap—a precious commodity in the wilderness. Suspicion soon pointed to a certain woman, who, on being accused, confessed boldly that she had taken it and cast it into the spring that its extraordinary powers of renewing old garments might be permanently imparted to the waters. She was deeply mortified to learn that her effort had been in vain.

The Rev. Peter McQueen of Charleston, Mass., tells a kindred story. His soap, however, was not lost, although misused. He still had it with him.

"I told our native servants to be sure to lay in a supply of clean water when we crossed the Tatu desert, a scorched belt of sand stretching some seventy-six miles," he relates. "Tidings had reached us that an English explorer who had attempted to cross that desert shortly before us had perished from thirst, so we wanted to be careful."

"You can imagine my surprise when, upon taking my first draft of water, I discovered that it tasted strongly of soap. All the casks were similarly tainted, and we rounded up the natives and held a hasty court martial."

"It was a tough predicament, but I couldn't refrain from smiling within when the leader of them meekly confessed that as the master had instructed him to lay in a supply of clean water he had seen to it that bars of soap were added, for soap, he said, was used to clean things."

They did not perish of thirst, but after sixteen days of drinking soap-suds, which agreed with neither palate nor stomach, no native of that particular gang was again likely to try to purify water with soap.—Youth's Companion.

ON THE DEAD RUSH.

An Experience in Getting Acquainted in New York.

Getting acquainted in New York is thus described by a man from Atlanta. He brought a letter of introduction to the person he was to meet at the latter's office in Nassau street.

This is the Atlanta's report to his house:

"Called at 2 p. m. Boy on the gate asked my name and business. Gave him the letter of introduction. Boy returned and told me to sit down."

"Sat down twenty-five minutes. Saw a man come out of his office and break through the gate as if he was chased by borers."

"Who's the man from Atlanta who wants to see me?" asked the hurried individual.

"I am the man," I replied, trying to act as if I was also hurried.

"Come along with me," said the man as he grabbed me by the arm. He dragged me through the main door into the hallway. He caught sight of a descending elevator and shrieked to the man in the car to stop.

"The door of the car slid ajar, and the man who had me by the arm said, 'Come along; let's get acquainted as we go down.'"

"By that time the car had reached the landing on the main floor. As the door of the car was pushed back the man who had my letter in his hand said: 'I haven't had time to read this letter, but we know each other. Come in day after tomorrow. I've got to make a train. I'll know you when we meet again. Goodby.'"

"Before I could say goodby he had turned the corner and was out of sight. That's business in New York."—Success Magazine.

Had Two Faults.

Uncle Remus, besides being an inveterate horse trader, was something of a wag. One day, after swapping a rather disreputable looking nag, he said:

"Now, stranger, I'll tell yer fair—dat boss hab got two faults."

"And more, too, I guess," assented the other. "But what are they?"

"Waal, ef he gets out in de field he's de habbes' boss ter ketch ye ever seed, an' when yer ketch 'im he ain't wuth a cuss."—Judge.

Mrs. Buggins—Before we were married you used to say I was the sunshin' of your life. Mr. Buggins—Well, I admit that you still do your best to make things hot for me.—Philadelphia Record.

Lady Wortley Montagu used to say that her only objection to being a man was that she would have to marry a woman.

Expenses of Running a Baseball Team.

Baseball investments in these days of peace are not at all precarious. When war prevailed and every baseball magnate had his knife unsheathed for every other magnate, a manager might wake up in the morning and find that a rival had fired his galaxy of stars away from him during the night. Clan destine tampering with baseball talent now is impossible, as all clubs and all leagues are bound by hard and fast agreements.

The expense of running a baseball team through a season is staggering to look upon but it means little to the magnate who has a good ball club well up in the race before the tall park gates open the fans are lined up in the street fighting each other for the prior right to hand the magnate their money that they might see his great young athletes perform.

A leading American League magnate estimates the average expense of running a big league ball club through a season as follows:

New players for trials	$20,000
Railroad fares and hotel bills	15,000
Players' salaries	70,000
Uniforms and team equipment	10,000
One thousand baseballs	1,000
Incidentals	6,000
Scouts for new playing material	3,000
Total	$124,000

Osteopathy Telepathy, and Magnetic Healing Made Plain.

Man has power to stop aches and pains if he knew how to use it. I have been able to stop every ache and pain for twelve years without a single failure. I concluded that what was so easy for me to do that I could teach others to do. I find that most people are able to learn to do the same thing easily. It has been a great help to me as I am healthier and stouter, than when I was laid. I feel better than I have felt since I was eighteen years old. Have not had a degree of fever since I have learned it. To most people this will appear a great mystery but after they have learned how to stop their aches and pains the misery then will be why the human race lived so long and did not learn what is so easy to learn and though there have been lots of men who were able to do this but were unable to teach others successfully and most people would think them crank or crazy on that one thing but I have studied it till I know it to be a law of nature that is as true as any law in nature and if you can do what I tell you to do the ache or pain will stop instantly. I have found some where they had a severe head-ache that they were unable to stop. But take my hands and stop it. Tell them just what to do and they could stop their aches and pains after that. If this can be taught it will be the greatest blessing to suffering humanity of anything that has ever been discovered. I am of the opinion that man or woman has no ache or pain that they can not stop after they learn just what to do and how to do. This is so different from what people believe that I expect it to be harder to make them believe they have that power than to teach them how to use it. I think we should look within for the power to cure our ills and not without. I teach one for $5.00 how to use this power. I guarantee to learn him or her or refund their money. I do not think any one would regret giving that for the knowledge as I would not take one hundred times that for it for my own use. I obligate one not to teach or try to teach anyone how to use this power to stop aches and pains. Will be at Beaver Dam Friday Saturday and Sunday, beginning May 21.
